

Turn Data into Valuable Information

To achieve peak performance, healthcare providers need accurate, timely management information based on data generated throughout their organizations. If you are like most providers, you probably have all of the data you need, but it resides in an array of disparate systems, formats and locations. Extracting that data and organizing it into the optimal form for decision making is a time-consuming task. Claritee helps solve this problem, seamlessly, economically and without tying up your IT and administrative staffs.

A Data Warehouse in a Box

Claritee utilizes an advanced analytics architecture to create a turnkey, open platform that combines a ready-to-connect design with a fully-customizable data management system. It leverages Microsoft's SQL Server database for its source system connectors (ETL), data models, OLAP cubes, and web portal. Because it has predefined plug-ins for many of the leading practice management, electronic medical records and accounting systems, the implementation process is fast and efficient – usually within weeks. User-friendly Excel and web-based reporting is also simple to implement. Its open database architecture lets you seamlessly plug in third-party products, such as Tableau and Crystal.

A High-Value Resource

The leadership and decision makers in your organization are continuously seeking additional ways to increase management effectiveness, optimize resources, and provide the best possible quality of care. Turning raw data into high-value management information is essential. Claritee's analytics platform has six modules that address key performance areas. They can be implemented as a unit or phased in, depending on your organization's requirements.

- Charges, Payments, Adjustments
- Accounts Receivable
- Payer Performance (payment accuracy, peer comparisons, trending, etc.)
- Practice Productivity (code benchmarking, RVUs, etc.)
- Profitability (P&Ls with direct and indirect cost allocations)
- Quality of Care (PQRI & quality initiatives)
